Warriors of the Ram Army...

Bring forth your spears, rapier, great swords, War shields, and axes. Knock away the dust that has accumulated on your bow and buckler to join us, the Shire of Northover and the Barony of Axemoor for our first Summer Southern Regional War Collugium. As our Northern brethren practice, so shall we. Classes in the North shall be mirrored in the South. As the Southern reaches of the River Valley Kingdom grow strong, so shall our brothers and sisters in the North.

Bring your animal flesh for the grill and your libations for consumption. We will have melee drills, sparring, and archery throughout the day, to end with grilling and merry making into the night.

A swimming pool is available, with no life guard on duty, as well as a swing set and games for the smaller members of our populace. Camp space is available in the yard and crash space is available when coordinated with members of the populace who live nearby.
